Job Description

Financial Planning and Analysis Manager

Reports to Senior Financial Planning and Analysis Manager

Following a separation of our Divisional and Group finance functions we have created this new role in our new Group Finance team.

The FP&A Manager will be part of a team responsible for financial analysis, management reporting and planning for the Group and will need to partner closely with the operating divisions and the Group Reporting Team. This is an exciting opportunity for someone who is passionate about a dynamic business environment and an ideal candidate is someone who has either management accounting or FP&A experience and wants to focus more on the analysis and communication rather than production of the numbers.

Key responsibilities:

Budgeting, planning and forecasting

- Analysis of quarterly forecast and annual budget
- Proactive engagement and partnering with the divisions throughout the year to provide detailed analysis of budgets, plans and forecasts including analysis of income statement, and KPIs to understand main assumptions, key drivers, trends and risks and opportunities
- Development and preparation of board papers including commentary and additional analysis for the executive management
- Assist in the development of the Group longer-term strategic plans with appropriate financial forecasting and metrics

Monthly reporting

Responsible for delivering the monthly Flash revenue and Group Management Accounts working closely with the Group Reporting team. This will include the following:

- Developing a strong understanding of the key drivers to revenue performance, and key factors driving divisional margin
- Variance analysis and associated commentary including KPIs
- Proactive engagement and partnering with the Divisions on a monthly basis in monitoring performance, risks, opportunities, initiatives and trends within the business and understanding impact on the full-year forecast
- Development and preparation of the Group management accounts including commentary to a high standard
- Ad hoc analysis as required
